

Distance Education Intern

Project Title	Distance Education Intern
Project Summary	Are you passionate about education and bringing America’s greatest treasures to children? As a distance education intern, you will work closely with our Interpretation and Technology team to develop new ways to get children to experience the National Parks.
Country	United States

Project Description

Did you visit a National Park when you were a child? Many children do not get the chance, but through modern technology, we can bring the National Parks to classrooms. The Selma to Montgomery National Historic Trail is looking for a few distance education interns to design and create several distance learning programs (30 min to 1 hour) for grades K-12. You will work with the Interpretation Team for 10 hours per week over six months. The programs can be focused on history, culture, and natural resources related to the Selma to Montgomery National Historic Trail as well as larger issues of citizenship, voting rights, and civil rights.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Editing and proofreading
Educational design
Research
Storytelling/bloggng/vlogging
Writing

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None